

U.S. FOREST SERVICE – Region 5 (California)

Recruitment Program Information Sheet

The USDA Forest Service, Pacific Southwest Region Recruitment program is actively seeking talented people to work safely together to be successful. There is a variety of professional, administrative, technical, clerical and other positions, for example, Wildlife Biologists, GIS Specialists, Civil Engineers/Technicians, Timber Management, Fire/Fuels Management, Administrative and Patrol and Prevention Technicians. Employees and fire crews often travel throughout California and other regions of the country.

APPLICATION PROCESS: Apply to vacancy announcements via the AVUE Digital Services system – <https://www.avuedigitalservices.com/>. You may also access Forest Service Vacancy Announcements through USAJOBS – <http://jobsearch.usajobs.gov/> - but note; you will be redirected to apply through the AVUE website. Specific information about the position can be found under the listing "Position Description" at both the AVUE and USAJOBS websites of each announcement.

* Understanding "Open & Continuous" job postings ****

Some Forest Service jobs are posted on USAJOBS and AVUE as "open and continuous". This means the vacancy announcements are always open for receiving applications. One posting may cover several hundred similar positions across the nation and have a closing date into the next year or no closing date. Applicants may apply to many positions by selecting a location from a drop down menu. Just because a desired location is provided by the system, does not assure that there is a vacancy there. These announcements are open-continuous and positions can be filled at anytime, at any participating location covered by the announcement. They are advertised both DEMO "DP" (external – where any US Citizen may apply) and Merit Promotion "G" (internal – current or former permanent federal employees and candidates under special hiring authorities). Applicants must apply to the vacancy and choose the duty locations of where they want their application to be considered. You may select up to 9 duty locations in the online AVUE application process. To obtain more information about the US Forest Service and individual locations, go to www.fs.fed.us (a search can be done by State or by Name). This "search feature" will provide you with access to Forest websites for contact information, such as phone numbers, duty locations, and addresses.

For Temporary (Summer/Seasonal) opportunities applicants are encouraged to contact the local Ranger District Office to inquire about position availability.

For open and continuous vacancies, be sure to keep your application updated and recertify your interest at least every 60 days. Applicants will receive a notification from AVUE reminding of the necessity to recertify.

OUTREACH WEBSITE: This National Outreach site lists Forest Service positions in California and all other Regions that are currently vacant. Some of these individual vacancies are not yet advertised, and some may list a closing date for the "Open and Continuous" job announcements. The listing will provide information about the position, location and will identify a local contact, usually the immediate supervisor of the position. This gives you the opportunity to contact the manager to learn more about the position. The website is <https://hrm.gdcii.com/outreach/Default.aspx>
